

Operation Note No. n°4/2024- June 28th (final)

Unexpected unavailability of an LNG tank at the Sagunto regasification plant

END OF EXCEPTIONAL OPERATIONAL SITUATION LEVEL 0

As a continuation of Operation Note n°4/2024 dated 3rd June (start), it is reported that the operator of the Sagunto regasification plant has sent an update to the System Technical Manager regarding the status of one of its tanks, indicating that the full emptying of said tank is nearing completion, marking the beginning of the next stage in the maintenance work.

From the start of the tank unavailability until the present time, there has been no impact on the logistics of the scheduled slots at the Sagunto plant and programmed gas demand has been met at all times.

Taking the above into consideration, from the moment of publication of this operation note, the exceptional operational situation Level 0 is considered concluded.

As previously indicated in the aforementioned operation note, during the time the works are being carried out, which the operator of the Sagunto plant estimates to be several months, the tank will be unavailable, therefore its capacity will not be taken into account in the calculation of the LNG tank storage service offer in the various allocation processes (annual, quarterly, monthly, daily/intraday), nor in the congestion management and anti-hoarding mechanisms that apply to this service.

The end of the tank maintenance will be communicated through the publication of the operation note.
